

LANGUAGES FOR READING PURPOSES—SUMMER 2021

French * German

Do you need to pick up reading skills in one of the above languages? Do you want to use the summer months, rather than the academic year, for this purpose? Look no further—we've got the course for you! These noncredit courses are intended for graduate students and other researchers who need to consult texts in French or German and/or who need to satisfy reading knowledge requirements for graduate professional programs. Over a six-week period, meeting three times a week for 1.5 hours a session, you will progressively gain reading skills through guided in-class work supplemented by intensive independent study of necessary grammar. The final two weeks are devoted to applying these skills to an individually chosen translation project and meeting with the instructor to discuss that project. Enrollments will typically be limited to 12-15 students per class. No previous language background is assumed. The Summer 2021 courses will be offered remotely via Zoom.

Dates: May 12 – June 24 for class sessions, Mondays, Wednesdays, & Thursdays, 4:30-6:00 p.m. and July 1 – July 9 for individualized work.

Place: Delivery mode is online

Cost: $650.00 per course, plus materials

Tuition Incentive Program: In cases where Duke Departments agree to pay 30% ($195) of the cost of a Language for Reading Purposes course for a Duke graduate student, the Graduate School will pay the remaining 70%. Departments agree to this payment apportionment via the signature of the DGS, requested below.

Cancellation policy: To receive a full refund you must cancel your registration prior to 5:00 pm on May 11.
